KING THEODORE KREBS

By TAVISH BRODIE
 REPORTER

Hey pack! It's Theo and welcome back to World News!" This just in, Theodore Krebs has been elected to the Homecoming Court! He has been going strong, with no plan of stopping! Krebs is known throughout the entirety of CHS for his appearances on the Wolfcast as the World News Guy, bringing relevant information to those in need. Students walking by the Doctor O'Connor building are sure to see the dozens of flyers Krebs has posted up for his campaign. This year, Krebs has been climbing the ranks in the Homecoming Court race and has come to share some important aspects of his life in further efforts to earn the title of homecoming king.

Krebs takes part in many school activities, including many clubs like the Ultimate Frisbee Club, Speech and Debate, Wolfcast, and more. His best high school memory is winning Homecoming King in the future. After graduating, Krebs plans on running for the US president and winning the election. Through his aspirations, he hopes to pursue his dream of helping people and the general community. The most important thing to Krebs is winning Homecoming King, with his second priority being World News. Krebs leaves behind advice for the freshman class.

"Don't be freshmen. And if that's not possible, then live, laugh, love, and enjoy life," Krebs said.

QUEEN MEGHAN ROBLES

By MIN CHO
 REPORTER

Playing out beautiful beats on her bass drum for all of Claremont to hear, Meghan Robles has stepped through the musical phrases of high school. Picking telepathy to be her superpower, her heroic sense for helping others has always been her joy. With her passion for music and bubbly personality, it is not shocking to see Robles as a finalist on this year's Homecoming Court.

"I was going for the fun of senior year and doing my last things," Robles said. "I put my name out there, and now I am a finalist, so I am happy to be here!"

Involved in ASB committees, German Club's Oompah Band, Project Blush as co-president, marching band as the battery captain, and numerous community-based activities, Robles has been keeping her life lively. From the age of four, Robles has devoted her time to helping others: she is currently a part of the community service organization, "KidCare International." Traveling out of state, she plans to major in biology, as she aspires to be a surgeon.

"I always have had a heart for people," Robles said.

Excited for what the future holds, Robles keeps a special place in her heart for all the memories made at CHS. She would like to shout out the CHS marching band for the fun moments.

"I will mostly miss the community of friends," Robles said. "I feel like there is always an environment at CHS that will increase your passion and increase your love for the school and teachers. I think it creates a welcoming community and I feel that is broad throughout the city of Claremont."
